HAMPTON WATER WORKS ARE SUED

Nashua Woman Alleges Injuries Received by Pitfall.

Two suits were begun in the superior court on Tuesday, being brought by Albert C. Melendy of Nashua and his wife Cora M. Melendy against the Hampton Water Works. The jury in the suits were drawn at Manchester yesterday, Judge Sawyer presiding and the jurors went to Hampton Beach to inspect the scene of the alleged accident. Mrs. Melendy sues for $5,000.

The case was called for the taking of the testimony at Nashua this morning before Judge Chamberlain.

It is alleged that the water works employees in laying pipes in the town did not properly cover the holes dug and that as a result Mrs. Melendy fell in and was severely injured. She sues for the alleged injuries and her husband for the loss of the services of his wife. It is claimed that when Mrs. Melendy was walking on the sands there was no sign of any defect and the sands layed in under her. Eastman and Scammon of Exeter and Watson and Moran of Nashua for the water works, and Doyle and Lueler and Albert Terrien for the plaintiffs.

The other case heard was that of Lewis S. Young of Newmarket against Anna E. Young also of that town, it being a replevin case. The attorneys were Arthur L. Churchill of Newmarket for the plaintiff and the firm of Eastman, Scammon and Gardner of Exeter for the defendant.

HUERTA READY TO RESIGN

Authorizes Mexican Peace Delegates to that Effect--Personal Interests Will Not Prevent Retirement

Washington, June 2.—Upon being informed tonight that the Mexican delegates at Niagara Falls had announced the willingness of General Huerta to resign once Mexico is politically pacified, the Constitutional agency authorized this statement:

"Any thing coming from Huerta's side will not be taken into consideration."

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 2.—General Huerta is preparing to resign. He today authorized his representative at the Mediation conference to announce to the world that "neither mistaken pride nor personal interests" would prevent his withdrawal when once Mexico is politically pacified and the government succeeding him is so constituted that it can count on the support of public opinion in Mexico.

The Mexican delegates in their formal statement revealed that they had been instructed from the first to inform the mediators that General Huerta personally would not be an obstacle toward reaching a peaceful settlement. They all stated in unequivocal terms that the internal situation in Mexico was necessarily bound up with the international questions, and that this spirit had actuated them in coming to the mediation conference.

Coincident with the announcement by the Mexican delegates of their position, the mediators tonight sent a note by mail to Rafael Zubaran, representative of General Carranza, in Washington replying to the communication brought here last Friday by Juan F. Uquidit. The mediators in effect asked General Carranza, through M. Zubaran if the constitutionalists were now willing to discuss internal as well as international questions, now considered inseparable not only by the mediators, but by the American and Huerta delegates as well, and if they were ready to declare an armistice with the Huerta forces so that the political pacification to which the Huerta delegates referred in their statement.

BURGLARS LOOT HOUSE ON MYRTLE AVENUE

The house of Harry B. Furbush at 315 Myrtle avenue, was broken into some time Tuesday afternoon and the house ransacked.

Mrs. Furbush was out for the afternoon and when she returned between five and six o'clock she found the break. Entrance had been gained by forcing a window and once inside the thief ransacked the house for valuables. Part of the goods stolen included three gold rings, one diamond and an apal ring, one gold chain, silver spoons and forks, a revolver, fountain pen and other small articles.

The police were notified about six o'clock and officers were detailed to make an investigation but could not find a single clue.

STILL AWAIT NEW ARREST IN HENNIKER

Hildreth Hurries to Manchester to Consult Attorney General.

Henriker, June 3.—The suspense in which the citizens of this town have been held for the past 24 hours respecting another arrest in the Peaslee murder case, has reached a stage where it seems possible that the townspeople, believing that the man held under the direction of the district court charged with the crime is innocent, may demand his release from custody.

One of the most positive pieces of evidence that such might be the result of the investigation of the officers was the departure of Detective C. H. Hildreth of the Manchester police department for Concord this afternoon, where he had a long conference with not only the medical referee, Channery Adams, but also with County Solicitor Robert Murchie.

After interviewing both these officials he caught a train for Manchester, and arriving there held a conference with Attorney General James P. Tattle, who was in Henriker at the time the present suspect was placed under arrest.

Attorney Joseph Donahgan, counsel for the accused man, left town about the same time as Mr. Hildreth satisfied that he has all the evidence necessary to secure the release of his client at any time it may seem expedient to ask the court for a not procul of the charge against him.

That another arrest in the case is due to come within a few hours was the declaration of several of the local people who have been in close touch with the situation.

That the person who may be arrested would not be the out-of-the-state suspect, who has been supposed to have come to this town in an automobile, and that it would not involve close members of the murdered man's family was generally accepted about the village tonight when it was known that Detective Hildreth and Attorney Donahgan had left the town.

The crowning feature of the all which the friends of the accused man Wood had been weaving about him was today discovered by all concerned when they visited a certain spot on Goss Hill where the man had insisted he had been at about the time the fatal shot was supposed to have been fired.

From the first Wood has maintained that he had taken a walk up Goss Hill, but until the clue came today from the Concord jail were the local authorities are satisfied on this particular point of the accused man's story.

From the jail he directed the authorities through his attorneys to go to a certain spot on the hill in question and there they would find evidence sufficient that he had visited that locality at about the time he had testified to being there.

Without regard for the departure of the state detectives or the reasons for leaving the town not a few of the local residents are clamoring for the arrest of another party.

This person has so far not been particularly connected with the situation, but suspicions of a very serious nature direct public sentiment in his direction.

County Solicitor Robert Murchie and Attorney General James P. Tattle were allowing the case to take its natural course so far as could be learned last night, as neither would talk of the conference they had participated in with Detective Hildreth.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Mr. Tobias P. Taylor will be held at the Methodist church, Miller avenue, Friday afternoon, at 2.30.

FIGHT REACHES SUPREME COURT

A New Application for Harry K. Thaw's Release is Expected This Week

Harry K. Thaw's fight against being returned to prison at Mathewson reached the superior court yesterday on an appeal from the decision of Judge Aldrich of the federal district court for New Hampshire, against Thaw's extradition on the demand of New York state officials.

As soon as the case is formally docketed, probably this week, it is believed another application will be made for Thaw's release on bail while his case is pending before the supreme court.

Judge Aldrich refused to allow Thaw's release although he stated that probably under the rules of the supreme court Thaw was entitled to immediate release upon the refusal of the court to allow his extradition.

Justice Holmes has been assigned to hearings of the New England an application for Thaw's release probably would be made so him although such application might be made to any other member of the court, or the entire court.

Justice Holmes has authority to grant the release with or without bail to deny the release, or to refer the application to the entire court.

In the ordinary course the case would not be considered for the court for nearly two years. It might be advanced on the ground of unusual importance to the state.

ONE CENT LETTER POSTAGE

Some Objections From the Business Man's Viewpoint—A Compromise Suggestion.

A recent canvass by a special committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce to determine the attitude of representative business men on the proposition of one-cent letter postage developed the interesting fact that almost without exception, those who declared themselves in favor of this measure, (would not lower rates for any service appeal to the average human being?) failed to take into account the practical effect of such a change on the conduct of their own business.

Low cost and efficiency are considered nowadays as inseparable, as well as indispensable factors in the successful management of business, yet many men confronted with a proposal for cutting postage on letters from two cents to one cent, think instantly of their postage cost suddenly halved and jump with prompt approval to the support of the proposition, without considering whether their postage efficiency will be equally maintained under new conditions.

How One-Cent Letter Postage Will Hamper Business Men.

The committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, after a thorough investigation into one-cent letter postage, came to the conclusion, after many weeks of interviews, hearings and study, that under present conditions the average business man would suffer rather than benefit, in the long run, from its operation. Few persons, even the hard-headed and calculating commercial executive, stop to consider that one-cent letter postage would practically mean the merging of the first and third classes of mail, that is, the mingling of sealed letters with the tremendous mass of circulars, advertisements, handbills and other matter now sent in unsealed envelopes for one cent.

Mail Congestion Means Delayed Delivery.

In discussing this aspect of the question, a prominent postal official informed the committee of the Chamber that at certain times of the year, notably Christmas, New Year's and Easter, just preceding the mark-down sales in local department stores, the bulk of third class mail assumes enormous proportions, 700,000 pieces at a time being not an unusual deposit from one store alone. Under present arrangements, postoffice clerks temporarily side-track this third class mail until they have finished sorting and preparing for delivery the first class mail, which at all times has the right of way in handling and delivering under rigid rules. Third class matter, where speed is manifestly of less importance, is handled between times as circumstances permit. It is not necessary to describe the congestion that would arise from the merging of the first and third classes (all envelopes, of course, being sealed and all bearing one cent stamps) and the resulting delay in handling and delivery.

It has been argued that such conditions could be overcome by enlarging postoffice facilities, but that would mean a material increase in operating expense which would hardly go hand-in-hand with a full per cent. reduction of first class postal rates and a corresponding shrinkage of revenue.

Annoyance at the Office.

Bringing the issue a little nearer home, it is easy to see the delay and annoyance that would be occasioned after the delivery of this intermingled mail at the business man's office. Payer for his out-of-town letters, and impatient over their delayed delivery, he might rip open envelope after envelope, taken at random from the pile, only to find one advertisement after another of no importance to him whatsoever! The trespass on his time by advertising matter is bad enough under present conditions, and even now many advertisers will pay two cents in order to make such mail "personal." Conditions would be a hundred times worse under one-cent letter postage, and the invasion of the office by such mail would only be equalled by the flooding of the home!

Expedite, First Class Postal Service; Don't Cheapen It!

It is needless to trace the outcome further. The crux of the whole matter is that the loudest cry on the part of the average business man to the Postoffice Department is not "less cost" but "more speed." Is one-cent letter postage the answer? The Boston Chamber of Commerce thinks not. The majority of opinions expressed before the committee led clearly to the conclusion that business men are willing to pay the two-cent rate on letters in order to insure preferential handling all along the route. Prompt delivery of first class mail has a tangible value to business men of dollars and cents which far exceeds the additional charge over the other classes of mail. Let

FINAL ARGUMENTS FOR DISSOLUTION

United Shoe Machinery Company Anti-Trust Suit Near Its Close.

Boston, June 2.—Final arguments in the suit of the government to dissolve the United Shoe Machinery company as an unlawful monopoly under the Sherman anti-trust act were closed today before Federal Judges Putnam, Dodge and Brown.

The government contended that the defendant company, through 11 subsidiary corporations and 23 officers and directors, all of which are parties to the suit, had monopolized the part of the shoe machinery business connected with the buttoning of shoes, including all machinery used in preparing the soles and heels of shoes and in attaching them to the uppers.

By means of the company's system of leasing its machinery, by which certain machines were required to be used together, the government charged that the company had been able to build up and maintain a monopoly, buying and controlling over 56 corporations and individuals for the alleged purpose of stifling competition.

Although the supreme court of the United States, in a decision on the validity of the bill in equity on which the suit is based, stated that there was nothing in the bill to show that the plaintiff formation of the company in 1890 by the consolidation of the Good-year Shoe Machinery company, McKay Shoe Machinery company and the Consolidated and McKay Lasting Machinery company was illegal, the prosecution insisted that the original organization of the company was in violation of the Sherman act and that subsequent acts were in accordance with a conspiracy to monopolize that part of the shoe machinery business in which they were interested.

The government laid particular stress on the purchase of the Thomas G. Plant company, whereby a line of competitive machinery was acquired, and on the so-called tying clauses in the leases under which shoe manufacturers were required to use certain machines together.

The government asked for a decree adjudging that all the defendants were parties to an unlawful combination and monopoly, that the United Shoe Machinery company and the United Shoe Machinery corporation, which is the holding company, were combinations in restraint of trade and that they had acquired and held a monopoly of shoe machinery; that the defendants' system of leasing machines was adjudged illegal and that all outstanding leases be declared void. The government also asked that the continuance of the combination be enjoined and that unless the defendants submit to the court within 90 days a plan for restoring bona fide competitive conditions which would bring about a situation in harmony with the true intent and purpose of the law, a receiver be appointed who would bring about such results under the direction of the court.

The suit was filed in December, 1911. Forty days were consumed in the taking of testimony in open court and an equal length of time was consumed in taking expert testimony regarding the patents involved.

The many friends of Mrs. Walter G. Chandler will be sorry to learn that she is quite ill at her home on Pleasant street.

Y. M. C. A. MEET FIRST DEFEAT FROM P. A. C.

Fast Game With Athletics Playing Better Ball--Trueman's Catch a Feature.

The P. A. C. took the first ball out of the Y. M. C. A. in the Sunset League on Tuesday afternoon and as a result the Knights of Columbus held the only perfect percentage. It was a good game with the P. A. C. playing the better ball and a far different quality from the game of last week. The regular team was playing and Bill Leary who pitched a rattling good game, got fine support. Trueman contributed a catch in center that would make Speaker get special notice. Ralph Brackett caught a fine game and there was no attempt at stealing.

McPheters was on the slab for the Y. M. C. A. and he pitched good ball, although reached for four hits, while Leary allowed the same. He got good support from Thomas at the plate and Harrington and Butler played a fine game.

Neither side scored until the fourth, when the P. A. C. started when Trueman was hit, the side scored, and advanced on Lynskey's grounder along the first base line. C. Brackett was passed and side scored and Trueman scored when Bill Woods hit to Harrington who tried to get Trueman at the plate. Leary fanned and Bill Brackett raised a single over Marden and C. Brackett scored, followed by Woods, when Thomas let the ball go through him. Ralph Brackett retired the side on a high fly to Brackett at first.

The young man scored their loss tally, after Thomas got a pass, was sacrificed to second by Marden and scored when Butler, who slug a sharp grounder to Bill Brackett, who got the ball on his toe over second and it bounded into right field Butler scoring before it could be recovered. They got a man to third in the first and third but were unable to score.

The Game in Detail:

FIRST INNING

The P. A. C. were up. W. Brackett flied to Timmons; R. Brackett singled over short; Howard hit just in front by and Woods scored. R. Brackett of the plate and beat it out. Newick hit a high fly to C. Brackett. Three hit to McPheters who threw to third runs.

THIRD INNING

Gibson walked. Timmons fouled out to C. Brackett. Timmons started to steal second and Ralph shot the ball to Bill and Gibson was held at third, while Timmons was being run down. He hit the ball with his hand and was declared out for interference. Gibson had scored but was sent back to third. McPheters flied out to Lynskey. No runs.

FOURTH INNING

TO WATCH CHILDREN'S WORK

Plan by Which Schools Would Follow Children Into Industry is One of the Suggestions Before Industrial Relations Commission.

New York, June 2.—Industrial education, apprenticeship and the administration of the child labor laws were subjects discussed by witnesses yesterday before the United States Commission on industrial relations which began its third week of hearings with a view to recommending national remedial legislation relating to industries.

Dr. C. R. Richards, director of Cooper Union, cited a need for evening schools where drawing, shop mathematics, and similar subjects may be taught. John H. Walsh, assistant superintendent of New York city schools, urged a system of schools keeping track of children who leave the classrooms to take out working papers; he suggested that working certificates be made out not to the children, but to the schools, so that employers might notify the schools when children left their employ.

James G. Gerson, mercantile inspector of the State Department of Labor, objected to labor by children under sixteen, or at that age when no chance of advancement was offered the employee. Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child

Frank Magee recently had a second unpleasant experience of a balky motor boat. He started for the Isles of Shoals with a fresh southerly wind and when two-thirds of the distance he had no anchor, but as the next best thing dropped overboard two lobster dummies, which acted as a drag and retarded the drifting of the disabled craft. In spite of this the strong wind and sharp chops drove her steadily toward the shore near Cape Neddick, and soon after dark the two dummies brought up on bottom in about water off York Beach, stopping the boat further drifting. Here she laid almost in the breakers till morning when Magee's plight was noticed on shore and a boat sent to his relief.

Mrs. Adelle S. Tobey who was called to Portsmouth, N. H., to take charge of a case in quarantine has returned home and reports the case as fully recovered.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says This Old-Time Eczema Remedy is Applied Like Cold Cream

An irritation, or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching or when the skin is dry and feverish can be readily overcome by applying a little hold-sulphur cream says a noted dermatologist.

He states that hold sulphur instantly relieves the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up leaving the skin clear and smooth. That sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years because of its parasitic-destroying properties. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any pharmacy an ounce of hold sulphur cream which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cream.

John S. Young of York Beach was a visitor here on Tuesday.

Annual Meeting With No Business Other Than Election of Teachers --No Changes Made.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday evening with all the members present and there was very little business considered other than the annual election of teachers. The matter of a new school house was not brought up, the joint committee having called to come to an agreement in the plans as yet.

Until Mayor Venton arrived Judge Page presided, and the usual bills were approved. The reports of the high school committee and the various district committees recommending the regular list of teachers with some increase in salaries, especially at the high school, were made and accepted with the recommendation adopted. The high school committee also reported that domestic science had been added to the list of studies. The monthly report of the Finance Committee was made as follows:

Treasurer	50.00

The report of the Superintendent and the report of the Finance Committee were accepted. The Board then proceeded to the election of teachers, and the following elections were made, no change being made:

HOLDING UP THE AMMUNITION FOR REBELS

Bryan Is Still Hopeful for the Rebels--Texas Ranchmen to Protect Their Property.

New York, June 2.—Five hundred tons of ammunition ordered by the Mexican Constitutionalists, which arrived in New York today from Bridgeport, Conn., will not be allowed to leave this port.

Although it was stated at the Customhouse that no instruction in the matter had been received from Washington, officials declared that it was probable that any vessel bearing arms or ammunition consigned to either of the Mexican factions would be refused clearance papers.

The ammunition was brought here on the Bridgeport Line's steamer Naugatuck, and it was understood that shipping clerks that the lot would be lighted to the Ward Line Antilla, which is announced to sail late today for Tampico. Officials of the Ward Line refused to say whether the shipment had been offered for the Antilla. Agents for the company which manufactured the ammunition admitted that it had arrived here.

While any vessel carrying the ammunition is likely to be refused clearance papers if the shipment is consigned to a Mexican port, it might be sent to some Central American or West Indian port and then reloaded for Mexico. Customhouse officials said they were expecting instructions from Washington.

Wishes Constitutionalists to Send Representative—Mediator's Verdict Not Looked for at Present.

Washington, June 2.—While Administration leaders still looked to Niagara Falls today for the decision of the mediators over the question of the Constitutional representation at the mediation conference, the semi-official statement from Carranza's headquarters at Durango, criticizing the course of the South American mediators, attracted widespread attention.

Such expressions in the statement as that the Constitutionalists "point out the fact that conquerors are not usually wont to permit the conquered to dictate terms of peace, which is practically what is to be asked of them by the commission," were variously interpreted. Administration officials declined to comment on the statement.

Declarations from Niagara Falls stated the Durango expression did not alter the mediator's opinion toward the Constitutionalists.

Hope was not lacking that difference between the mediators and the Constitutionalists could be dissipated by exchanges which recently were initiated by the delivery of the Carranza note at Niagara Falls. There were indications that the envoys might look to the Washington Government for additional information over the specific attitude that Carranza finally will take.

They still sought word whether he would agree to a brief truce and whether he would authorize his representatives to discuss the broad subject of the republic's pacification.

Up to this time Carranza has turned a deaf ear to such propositions. "Progress Satisfactory"

Sec. Bryan was in frequent communication with the members of the American mission at Niagara Falls, but beyond his statement that the conference was "progressing satisfactorily" no intimation of the trend of the exchanges was forthcoming. It was believed, however, that the American delegates had not raised their efforts for attainment of a Constitutional representative to the conference.

In unofficial circles in Washington speculation was renewed today about the outcome of the mediation preliminaries if the three envoys and the chief of the northern faction shall fail to agree on a basis for Constitutional participation. Many observers took the position that even if mediation were confined to differences between Huerta and the United States, and the Northern faction continues its campaign to Mexico City, there still would be need of outside help to restore normal conditions in the republic.

The mediators and the American delegates resumed their conferences today. Decision on the Carranza question is not expected for several days. The Huerta delegates, it is believed, will abide by the envoys' will in final matter.

No Clearance for War Cargoes.
While the diplomatic phase of the Mexican question was uppermost today, the refusal of the American Government to clear ships bearing war cargoes to any port was an interesting development. Previously it had been believed that Carranza's troops would be able to replenish their arms supplies through the port of Tampico, which they recently captured. However, arms for Mexican points from the United States under present conditions, must be sent to other ports and reexported there.

ARRIVAL OF 27 REFUGEES
Steamship From British Honduras Brings 27 Americans Who Traveled 400 Miles Overland.

New Orleans, June 2.—Twenty-seven American refugees from Mexico arrived here last night on the steamship Orizaba from Belize, British Honduras. They had been connected with the Leguna Corporation, which operates mahogany and chicle properties about 400 miles from the British Honduras line.

The plant was raided along with two other mahogany properties more than a month ago. Those who arrived last night left before the raid. They traveled the 400 miles overland.

HAVE LOST 8000 CATTLE
Ranchers Along Rio Grande Organize to Supply 400 Guards to Aid Border County Sheriffs.

San Antonio, Tex., June 2.—Claiming that more than 8000 head of cattle have been driven from their ranches into Mexico in the past year, cattlemen along the Rio Grande have organized the Texas Protective Association, and announced that they will supply 400 guards to aid the border county sheriffs.

DEEP INTEREST FELT
Washington, June 2.—When the Cabinet assembled today, with President Wilson, an official account of Gen. Carranza's statement, issued last night had been received either through the Constitutionalists themselves or from the American delegates at Niagara Falls. The Cabinet members and White House officials, however, showed deepest interest in Carranza's pronouncement as published in the morning's news dispatches, and it was taken up for discussion.

Neison O'Shaughnessy, formerly chargé at the Embassy at Mexico City, was a White House caller in the day, but did not see the President.

NAVY MEN ARE COMMENCED
Washington, June 2.—Lieutenant A. L. Bristol of the navy and Walter L. Cleveland and Paul R. Hoover have been commended by the Secretary of the Navy for heroism in rescuing an insane man who jumped overboard from the destroyer Cummings in the harbor of Vera Cruz on May 5. The man had been placed in double irons and would have drowned had it not been for the prompt action of the men. Lieutenant Bristol held him up while the others passed a line around his body.

Robert T. Northcutt, hospital steward, and William J. Donahue and Frank Duenser, Bremen first class, all of the United States ship Minnesota, have been commended for rescuing two French sailors, a ship from the French cruiser Conde, carrying 550 men, upset in Vera Cruz harbor. These of the French sailors could swim and they saved themselves, but the lives of the other were saved by Northcutt, Donahue and Duenser.

Patrick J. O'Connor, chief water tender, William P. Alexander, sailmaker's mate, Joseph L. Cohen, coxswain, John Bertalovich and Howard Reid, Charles Wright and George R. Teufel, seamen, and Raymond A. Lodge, coxswain, have been commended for rescuing a party of automobilists which went into the water at Hampton Roads with their machine when the car ran off the end of a ferryboat. They rescued five persons.

Some of the men formed a chain from the deck of the boat down to the water.

To Robert P. Keathly, seaman aboard the Marblehead; Charles Shoethin, gunner's mate on the Utah, and John H. Irving, coxswain aboard the Cleveland, have been awarded silver medals presented by the Treasury Department for gallantry in saving lives. Keathly saved a shipmate from drowning at Buzzards, while Shoethin and Irving rescued an enlisted man from drowning in Hampton Roads.

Fraud in Medicines.

A dispatch of importance to farmers was sent out a few days ago by the department of agriculture relative to an alleged remedy for hog cholera which is being offered in a way to give the impression that the preparation has been investigated and approved by the department. As the endorsement of such a remedy by the department would be worth much to the proprietors, it is easy to understand why they should attempt to create the impression that such endorsement has been given, but as there has been no approval on the part of the department it is well that farmers should understand the facts. If they see fit they can test the preparation on their own responsibility, but they ought not to be led to believe that it has the endorsement of the government when such is not the case.

The department says it has no knowledge of any efficient remedy for hog cholera, but that under certain conditions stock can be protected to some extent by the use of anti-hog cholera serum. It adds that this hog cholera remedy has been advertised as a means of destroying tuberculosis, typhoid and cancer germs, and it is apparent that the proprietors are prepared to float it for any purpose if they can only get the public to buy it. The scheme of making it appear to have the endorsement of the department of agriculture was shrewd in its way, but the department promptly sets its foot upon it and thereby thousands of dollars will undoubtedly be saved to the farmers of the country.

There is probably no business in the world more susceptible of fraud than the preparation and sale of proprietary medicines, both for the human family and the animal kingdom. This is not to say that there are not honest and useful medicines on the market, but along with them goes a flood of preparations for which great claims are made, but which are practically if not absolutely worthless.

The patent medicine habit is one of the worst ever contracted, and people should be careful how they spend their money for preparations of which they know nothing. It may be that in most cases they will do no harm; it is certain that in most cases they will do no good. The main reliance should be upon the family physician for the household and the veterinarian for the stock of the farm.

Spanish and Americans joined in Memorial day exercises at Manila. An American officer in his address alluded to "the brave Spanish soldiers who gave their lives for the honor of their country," and a Spanish officer referred to "the gallant Americans." Thus was the day passed in peace and friendship by men who only a few years ago were bitter foes. True it is that "Time heals all wounds," including those inflicted by cruel war.

It is to be regretted that President Wilson did not, when he received the invitation to speak at the Memorial Day observances at the national cemetery in Arlington, perceive that a declination would be misconstrued. However, he saw his mistake later and remedied it so far as possible by attending and delivering an appropriate address. The incident may now well be considered closed.

The most important record made at the automobile race in Indianapolis last week was in the direction of safety. Only seven men were injured, and none seriously. These automobile races have in many cases been accompanied by very serious smashups and fatalities, and the record of this occasion shows improvement if the escapes were not due to mere good luck.

Sir Wilfred Laurier has reached the 40th anniversary of his service in the Canadian parliament, and it has been a very distinguished service, as Canada and the rest of the world know. The Senate and House of Commons did not allow the anniversary to pass without fitting recognition of the long and valued services of their eminent and honored countryman.

Wouldn't it be lovely to have Massachusetts operating the New Hampshire steam railroads, and with the democrats in power! Our "Fitz" of Boston should be made publicity agent.

It is a pity that some of the rain that has been doing damage in Texas could not have been sprinkled around over this part of the country, where it is needed.

President Mellen's remarks that Boston was "anti-everything" certainly made a hit all over New England.

The whole world is "watchfully waiting" for the outcome of the mediation conference at Niagara Falls.

The lower picture shows some of the survivors of the Empress of Ireland, which was rammed by the collier Stensand in the St. Lawrence river off Father Point and sunk, cutting aboard the Alsatian, which stopped at Rimouski for them. The upper picture shows some of the crew of the ill fated ship aboard the Alsatian, the man in uniform being Quartermaster James Smuggins. The small picture shows how some of the coffins of the victims appeared on the rear deck of the Lady Grey. CURRENT OPINION

Children, Like Trees,
Need Air and Sunlight.

Wise parents care for their children with the same watchful care that you and your teachers will use in nursing the trees and shrubs in your school yard. Wise parents know that their children must have sunlight and fresh air just like the trees. They let their children play out of doors as much as they can and sleep in rooms with the windows open.

If you covered the tree you plant today with something to keep out the sunlight and air it would grow weak and pale and would wither and die. That is just what happens to children who have not enough fresh air and sunlight; they wither, grow tired and sick. That is the reason why bedrooms should have as much sunlight as possible during the day and why they should be flooded with fresh, cool air at night. By Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, New York State Commissioner of Health in address on "Planting Day."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

FIGHTING WILSON.

There cannot be a doubt that Frank H. Challis of Manchester is a Progressive. He attended the conference of the party in that city last week. Perhaps he is an older Progressive than the editor of the Union. He is certainly more familiar with political conditions in New Hampshire. Referring to the editorial announcement of the Union that Theodore Roosevelt is to enter upon a nation wide campaign against Woodrow Wilson and that in the course of it he feels called upon to fight Penrose in Pennsylvania, Foraker in Ohio and Gallinger in New Hampshire, Mr. Challis doubts if Colonel Roosevelt is to "disseminate his reputation as a politician of the better class." Dismissing the contest in Pennsylvania and Ohio as matters that do not directly concern us, Mr. Challis asks:

"What have the Progressives to offer in this state? Robert P. Bass, whom I would like to have voted for had he declared himself a candidate in the ranks of the only organization which will 'beat Wilson' if he is beaten, the Republican organization, not only will not run there but declines to run even as a Progressive. My military instinct considers that as 'cowardice in the face of the enemy.' And at the conference of Saturday the discouraging spectacle was presented of the chairman and the chief speaker, or one of them, outside of the imported Senator Clapp who 'fights Wilson' by voting for Wilson tariff measures which are pulling the industries of Manchester to the bun, both declaring they will not be able to participate in the campaign in this state."

Then Mr. Challis takes up the alternative of those Progressives who decline to lead or follow and who refuse to beat Wilson through the only organization that can secure the defeat of the Democratic party in this state. He says:

"Suppose Stevens is chosen either senator or representative again; is that 'fighting Wilson'? No more reliable tool for the Wilson regime in striking at the industries of this state and American control of its own property has been found than this same Stevens. Shall we 'fight Wilson' by sending back Reed from the first district? Reed is the Democratic committeeman from this state; he was at the Baltimore convention and he voted for the Democratic platform with his free tolls plank. Yet Reed swallowed himself on this question and voted to transfer the manufacture of boots and shoes and textile goods to England by favoring the Wilson free-trade scheme."

It must be apparent to even the most prejudiced that it is impossible to "fight Wilson" or Democratic policies by contributing to the success of Democratic candidates. The primaries were invented for the purpose of enabling those who think alike on public questions to select their candidates. The very first to refuse to abide by the primary action are the authors and advocates of the primary law in this state. Senator Gallinger and Randall H. Spaulding have offered themselves as candidates before the Republican primary. The field is still open to others. If those who wish to "fight Wilson," and they undoubtedly comprise a large majority of the voters of the state, desire other candidates it is their duty to present them. The process is simple and inexpensive, except for the few who stood apart at Manchester last week we know of none who are not willing to abide by the primary result.—From Nashua Telegraph.

MADAME MOSELLE AT THE SHUBERT THEATRE, BOSTON.

Madame Moselle at the Shubert Theatre is the only musical comedy now running in Boston. It has scored a signal success. The cast is virtually an all-star combination. Ralph Herz has a ridiculously amusing part in the new piece which evokes screams of laughter, and he has some exceedingly funny songs. "It's Embarrassing" brought eight or nine encores, and "It's a Lie" would have kept Mr. Herz on the stage at the opening performance until midnight, but for the fact that he had no more verses left to sing. William Pruette, who was formerly with Fritz Scheff in "Monsieur Modiste" and sang "I Want What I Want When I Want It," has a big number in "Madame Moselle" called Constantinople, which he sings with the full chorus of his Turkish harem. Jack Henderson of "Pink Lady" fame is the young lover of the story. He has a song hit, "If I Should Lose My Only Girl" that will very soon be whistled all over Boston. His wonderful Apache dance with Helen Novita in the second act is a decided sensation. A dainty little actress, named Jane D'Aubrey, quite a new comer as far as Boston is concerned, captivated the audience from the moment of her first entrance, when she sang "I'll Be There," a beautiful number of real melody. It reminded one of Edna May's advent in the "Hells of New York." Helen Bostyn, Olga Rolter, Ernest Lambert, Jessie Intrepid, Royal Culter, and a host of stunning and pretty girls in a gorgeous display of gowns complete the cast. The book and lyrics of "Madame Moselle" were written by Edward A. Paulton and the music is the best work of Ludwig Engländer. The piece was lavishly staged by George W. Lederer, whose previous success, "Madame Sherry," is well remembered. All in all, Boston's latest musical show is a real delight.

REDUCING THE RENT.

Mr. Storekeeper, did you ever figure out that you can utilize advertising to reduce your fixed charge for rent?

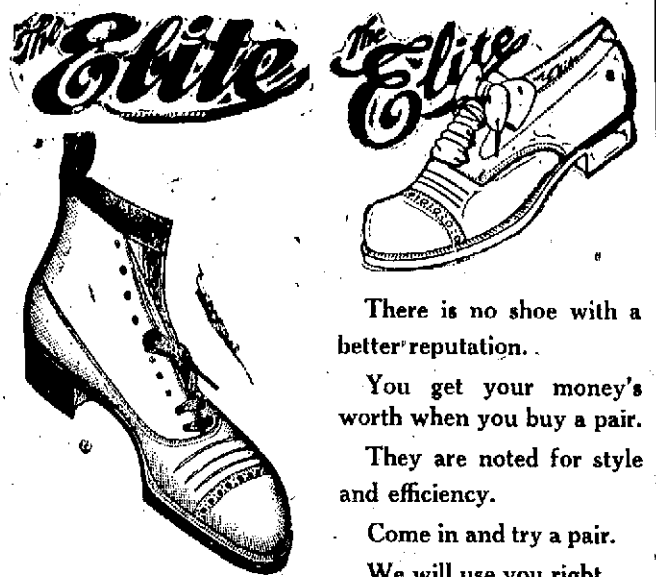

How?

By the very greatly increased business it will bring you.

Just figure your advertising cost as part of the rent and figure your new percentage on the greater volume of business.

If it does not work out you have not given the public what they want.

The results of advertising in a good newspaper like The Herald are as certain as anything can be if you have voiced your appeal properly.

There is no shoe with a better reputation.

PROPERTY OWNERS FACING SERIOUS PROBLEM

Property owners at the southern extremity of Hampton beach known as White Island are facing a serious problem and it begins to look as though help would be asked from the government. The sea is making tremendous inroads upon the beach, and such progress is being made that unless steps are taken in the near future, thousands of dollars worth of property will be seriously damaged, if not altogether destroyed.

During the past winter the island has been washed away to an alarming degree and even the oldest residents cannot recall when such great damage has resulted. All the point of land nearest to the ocean is gone and the action of the water is still wearing away the entire Hampton river side of the island. During the winter two cottages were totally destroyed, and one of these was owned by Mrs. Emma Quimby, of Haverhill, Mass. Mrs. Quimby not only lost her summer home where she has passed several seasons, but the entire contents of the house.

Another house close by, owned by Manchester parties suffered the same fate, and still a third on the river side of the island was badly damaged. But for the timely moving away of the structure it would have been a total loss for the sand was washed away from beneath it to such a degree that the piazza, as it was, was demolished, falling into the angry waters.

All through the spring months property owners have been at the beach and 50 houses have been moved from their former locations, completely changing the aspect of the island. Several of these have been given new locations far removed from the ocean, but those who have watched the action of the water believe that it will only be a matter of time when these buildings, unless they are again moved, will suffer the same fate.

The point of land nearest to the ocean is entirely washed away, and there is now a deep channel where land formerly existed. The Beckman cottage, situated on a group of rocks, has heretofore been approachable at all times, but now it is a complete island, with nearly half a mile of water between it and the mainland. The channel of the river, too, is completely changed from last season, and while in times past a circuitous route was followed by seagoing vessels, the channel is now nearly straight, and much less difficulty is experienced in guiding crafts from Hampton river out into the open sea.

Many believe that the building of the famous mile-long bridge has had an effect upon the waters of the river, with the result that there have been serious inroads upon the beach. Each year for some time there have been changes in the coast line, but this year everything is completely changed, and a large section of the beach has disappeared.

On the Hampton river side the water is now in close proximity to several houses, and there is every indication that all of these will have to be moved within a short time. With this end in view, most of the property owners have secured the option on lots further up the beach and removed from the impending dangers.

There has been an effort to have the town of Hampton build a breakwater to protect the property, and if this project fails, it is likely that the national government will be appealed to by the cottagers in an effort to save this prosperous section of Hampton beach.

LA TENA'S BIG WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS TO VISIT US

Big Show Will Be Seen in Portsmouth on Wednesday, June 10th

The most hazardous undertaking with amusement life is the undertaking of the training of polar bears on account of the extreme ferociousness of the brutes and their almost unbelievable strength and yet Carl Bachmann's group of bears, with La Tena's Big Animal Circus are under superb control and perform feats in the big arena that are almost incredible. Another striking feature of this splendid organization is Margaret and her dog Nubian lions, and really is a wonderful display, in as much as it clearly demonstrates that some females have just as strong a will power as men and can subjugate jungle bred animals just as easily.

The menagerie embraces an unusual collection of rare animals and among those represented are denizens of the field, forest and jungles.

La Tena will offer an exhibition replete with all the attractions that are found in the largest tented aggregations, three arenas being constantly occupied with sterling acts showing the dexterity of some hundred performers, whose skill is unquestioned. There is a laugh coming to every man and woman who visits these splendid shows as the merry old clowns number some twenty odd, and have many new stunts that will crown them kings of funsters. The grand, tree street parade with its glittering dens and chariots form a dazzling pageant that will put the stamp of approval on the entire organization as the many dens of animals will be open, so that all may see the wild animals and will prove that the La Tena Wild Animal Circus is different from the rest.

AT THE PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

The Musical Bills, experts on the French horn, cornet, etc., got great applause at the Portsmouth Theatre Monday evening. They are playing a novel instrument of their own in addition to several regular ones. This act is well worth seeing.

Bovis and Darley presented some entirely new ideas on the Woman's Suffrage question. The laughing song is well executed and the crowds enjoyed it extremely. Other popular songs feature the act.

Both acts are here for Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening.

ONE CENT

LETTER POSTAGE

the postoffice department try to improve and expedite, rather than cheapen, its first class mail service.

A Compromise Suggestion.

As in most questions of this sort, there is a middle ground which admits of compromise action. It seemed apparent to the Chamber's committee that most of the demand for one-cent letter postage comes from men who have to send for two cents a large quantity of bills, checks, etc., where prompt delivery is of no special importance and for which the third class service would be adequate if envelopes could be sealed. The suggestion was offered that the reasonable demand of these persons would be met by opening the third class at the one-cent rate to sealed letters not requiring expeditious handling and delivery. This arrangement would permit of sending for one-cent bills, checks, written announcements and all first class matter where prompt delivery is not of prime importance and at the same time the present first class mail for sealed letters requiring preferential service would be materially reduced under this new arrangement and the preference now accorded it in all stages of its transmission would be correspondingly more effective. In other words, persons would be given their choice of sending sealed letters for one cent or two cents, depending upon whether or not prompt delivery was needed.

The only question which has not been settled in this connection, however, is the effect that such a plan might have upon postal revenue. The committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce which offered this suggestion preferred to leave that for the consideration of the postal authorities.

CYCLES CRASH.

Rider Thrown Off, Luckily Escapes Serious Injury.

An accident which came near proving fatal occurred in front of the Kearsarge Hotel on Congress street about one o'clock this afternoon. George Samyrson, riding a bicycle, was coasting down Congress street when a motor cycle driven by John Lettierie came down behind him at a fast rate of speed. The driver slowed his machine down and shouted to Samyrson to get out of the way. Owing to the high curbing he was unable to do so, and Lettierie grazed him and collided with a team standing in front of the Kearsarge house. Lettierie was injured to some extent, his leg being bruised, but the machine received little damage. The bicycle and its rider were practically unharmed.

The motorcyclist is a novice at the game, having recently purchased the machine.

CONFUSION IN THE IDENTIFICATION OF WRECK VICTIMS

Five Persons Claimed One Body and All Positive--Many Mistakes Being Made.

Quebec, June 2.—The first public funeral of victims of the collision between the steamship Empress of Ireland and the collier Statendam will be held Wednesday, when the bodies of nine of the crew will be buried.

Mayor Napoleon Prud'homme, aided by Canadian Pacific officials and prominent men of the town, is arranging for the ceremony, which will be an imposing one. There will be a public procession, headed by the Royal Canadian Grenadier Guards, and detachments from the warship Essex and the local militia forces will be in line. The schools will close and for a time business will be suspended.

Responsibility for the collision, just now a subject of bitter controversy, will be fixed by the Royal Commission appointed to make a thorough inquiry. The members of the commission are Sir Adolphus Rutherford, judge of the Court of Admiralty of Quebec, and John Barkley Milford, chief justice and judge of the Admiralty Court of New Brunswick, appointed by the Canadian Government, and George L. Vane, of the British Board of Trade, appointed by the British Government.

The hearings will begin June 9, but whether in Montreal or Quebec has not yet been definitely decided.

Disputes in Identification
The number of disputes that have arisen in the funeral shed is a surprising feature of the identification work that has been going on there. In one case no less than five persons claimed the possession of one of the little girl victims, with the result that when the pier was closed last night the body was still classed as unidentified.

So altered are the features of the dead that many mistakes are made. Some who were sure at first that they had recovered the bodies of dear ones later wavered in their belief, and sometimes even returned to affirm their previous impression.

A curious case was that of Mrs. Price of New Zealand, who had been identified by her niece, Miss Townsend of New Zealand, somewhat of a dilemma was created when 15 or 18 of the Empress' crew arrived on the scene and claimed the body as that of Miss Leder, formerly stewardess of the ill-fated steamship.

While the women were insisting in their identification, it was Miss Townsend who won the day, as she swore positively that the jewelry worn by Mrs. Price was known to her. She was backed up by Mr. Webber of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who knew Mrs. Price personally.

One body identified late yesterday was that of Leonard Palmer of the London Financial News, who organized the tour of the British munition makers to this country.

Absolute Proof Now Demanded.
Having discovered that several mistakes had been made in the identification of bodies at the temporary morgue in shed 27, the officials in charge now demand absolute proof before allowing the claimant to remove the remains.

These new—the assurance of the statement by the Mexicans and the making of a reply to Zubizarra—broke the deadlock in the negotiations, the existence of which was formally declared during the day by the mediators.

It was nevertheless authoritatively established that not until the mediators withdrew their original intention of ignoring the Zubizarra note, did the American delegates consent to go ahead with the discussion of a general peace plan on which substantial progress was made in today's conference.

The statement by the Mexicans prepared two days ago but not issued until General Huerta had telegraphed his complete approval today of the tentative plan for a new provisional government also ended the negotiations a long step forward and an atmosphere of optimism prevailed in the mediation colony tonight. The rest of the statement follows:

"In accordance with the instructions which the Mexican delegation has had since the beginning of the peace negotiations, that is to say in the presence of the mediation plenipotentiaries and of the delegates of the United States of America, that President Huerta's personality is not an obstacle in the reaching of a satisfactory conclusion."

"General Huerta is prepared to withdraw from the government on condition that, at the time of his withdrawal, Mexico shall be politically pacified, and the government succeeding his shall be such as to count on the acquiescence of the governed and on the support of the public opinion which constitute for peace and stability in any country."

"It has been and is President Huerta's wish to place on record that neither mistaken pride nor personal interest will prevent his withdrawal once the above named conditions are named."

The Mexican government accepted the mediation of the South American powers, Argentina, Brazil and Chile, in a frank and open spirit and the Mexican delegation has been guided by all its acts by perfect good faith."

"It should be unnecessary to say that President Huerta gave the Mexican delegation special instructions not to consent to anything which could hurt the sovereignty of the Mexican nation and to refuse a hearing in the deliberations of the conference to anything which might be construed as an imposition from the outside. For their own part the delegates would not have accepted instructions of a different nature on these points; but they beg to say that hitherto they have had no occasion to refer to them, thanks to the exquisite taste of the mediation plenipotentiaries and to the circumspection of the American delegates."

"To treat of the interior pacification of Mexico in the course of deliberations on difficulties of an international character cannot be considered as submitting the sovereignty of the nation to an external influence, and pacification is necessarily bound up with the international question. This has been appreciated by the Mexican delegation and in setting forth the intentions of its government; in the matter and in its endeavors to bring about the pacification it has been inspired by the knowledge that without it no satisfactory conclusion can be arrived at in the international question."

Just before the foregoing was issued the Mexican delegates had a long conference with the mediators. Afterward they telegraphed General Huerta to send them at once the names of the men who will be satisfactory to the mediators in the provisional government.

Two men were named, the number of identifications yesterday, and today was much smaller than on Sunday.

There was undoubtedly much inefficiency of method in the arrangements made for the claiming of bodies by friends or relatives. A clerk of the C. P. R. was placed in charge of every 25 coffins. As soon as a face was recognized, or by jewelry or scars a body was named. Those who believed they had found the one for whom they searched would report to the clerk in charge.

He would take the name of the victim and the one who supplied the information, the age of the deceased and the place of residence, any other facts that he thought necessary, and the claimants would receive a burial certificate from Coroner Jolicoeur. Thus it would be possible for them to remove the body.

In two cases bodies were identified as those of men which, when examined, were found to be women. Impossible though this may seem, it was undoubtedly true. One was said to be a sailor named Quilling. The body was claimed by the Catholic Seamen's Institute. When it was taken out to be embalmed, it was found that it was the body of a woman. The hair had been drawn back tightly and the face along was shown.

The body in the coffin numbered 182 was also identified as being that of a man, and turned out to be that of a woman.

When the coroner made his rounds yesterday afternoon to remove all the valuables from the body and prepare it for embalming, the discovery was made.

CONGRESS TO JUST DRAG ALONG

Washington, June 2.—Virtual adjournment by the House after the passage through that body of the anti-trust bills is the present plan of the Democratic leaders. Their scheme is to let the members go home well before the end of June and mend their political fences, while a nominal attendance remains in Washington and transacts routine business, holding short sessions only twice or three times a week. "It is sabotage," said a member today. "The House is adopting the principles of the I. W. W."

This plan is being opposed by the Democrats who are anxious for the House to make a record at this session and complete the rural credits and conservation programme which the President mapped out in the early days of the session. As already stated in these despatches, the conservationists are planning to ask the President for a special rule for their bills. The President so far has not indicated how he will stand on this proposition but has emphatically endorsed the bills which are now on the House calendar as the first constructive attempt at conservation which the Federal Government has made.

The House leaders are going slowly in formulating arrangements for the day today adjournment without transacting any business of importance. On the one hand they see and keenly feel the necessity for letting the members go home and try to get themselves re-elected. On the other hand they tried these tactics last summer and suffered rather more than they expected under the skillful criticisms of the leaders of the Republican and Bull Moose minority. It is absolutely certain that if the attendance in the House dwindles down to less than a quorum by the end of this month Mr. Mann and Mr. Murdock will joyfully seize the opportunity to point out to the country in every possible way that the Democrats are loafing, are not attending to business, and ought therefore not to receive the endorsement of the country.

Important measures to which the party is pledged and which will be pressed by the minority parties in the event that the leaders decide to "let things slump" for the rest of the summer are the safety at sea bill, the child labor bill, which it had been planned to pass at this session; the revision of the general dam act, which is absolutely necessary to aid the development of waterpower; the revision of the campaign publicity law, and, as already stated, five important conservation measures.

PARKER'S TWO SERMONS.
And How He Got the Morning Congregation Back at Night.

A characteristic story of Dr. Parker was told by a minister who had it from an old minister, who was much interested in Joseph Parker's early work as a local preacher. One Saturday he met Parker and asked him whether he had an engagement for Sunday. "Yes," was the reply.

"Are your sermons ready, Joseph?" asked the minister.

"I have the morning sermon," was the reply, "but I am not sure about the evening."

"Well, Joseph, what is your text for the morning and how do you treat it?" Parker went over his text and the outline of his sermon.

"But, Joseph," said the minister, "that is very clever, but it is not the real meaning of the text. If you will look at the commentaries you will see that you are wrong."

Parker thanked him and went his way. On the Monday the minister again met his friend.

"Well, Joseph, how did you get on yesterday?"

"Very well," was the reply. "How did you manage?"

"Well," he said, "in the morning I preached my sermon and explained the text in my way, and at the close I said: 'This is how I understand it. But learned men understand it differently, and I will tell you in the evening how the learned men understand it.'"

They all came back in the evening, and Joseph had a happy day.—British Weekly.

There's nothing small about the Ford—except its purchase price and cost to keep. In number of cars, in world-wide use, in quality of service to owners and in its daily performance it is the biggest car in the world. 530,000 users will testify to these facts.

Five hundred dollars is the price of the Ford runabout; the touring car is five fifty; the town car seven fifty.—F.O.B. Detroit, complete with equipment. Get catalog and particulars from Hiram B. Weaver, 79 Rogers Street, Portsmouth, N. H.
